e-Workflow

Electronic workflow saves time and ensures accurate task routing.

Dramatically lower costs and increased organizational efficiency with the e-Workflow functionality in e-Synergy. Through the electronic management of internal and external business processes, e-Workflow helps organizations shorten their customer service cycles, streamline business processes and improve workflow management. With e-Workflow you can:

- Model your business processes electronically and give everyone in the organization a better understanding of organizational processes
- Define functional responsibility by name or by role
- Ensure process adherence through defined workflow stages and task routing
- Gain increased visibility and accountability into the status of any request through immediate access to status information

Model the interactions between your employees, your value chain and your products using this powerful embedded workflow engine. Define processes based on named resources, or roles at the cost center, division or corporate level. From vacation requests to engineering processes, e-Workflow provides the functionality to improve the handling of your organizations business processes. Take advantage of features such as expense approval levels and automatic reassignment of workflow.

e-Synergy is a completely new solution based on Web technology, which allows organizations to enhance their overall efficiency. Internet technology can be so much more than posting a brochure on the Web or running your current application on a browser. Through the Web everything can be related or connected: computers, documents, customers, products, employees and a lot more.

e-Synergy makes these links quickly and efficiently. The solution can be used by both large and small organizations in any sector of business or industry. Wherever there is a need for information, and the need to link this information to the elements of an organization (employees, products and accounts), e-Synergy can help.
